Experience

2016- today

Lead UI/UX Designer at TouchNote

Touchnote is the world's most popular postcard sending service, since 2008 millions of personalised cards have been sent worldwide and our apps were featured in the leading press, iTunes, Google Play as well as on grandparents' fridges. I'm the Lead UI/UX designer mentoring 3 graphic designers and squads. My main role is to take care and sign off every visual aspect of the company. Recently I've been focused on the redesign of the TouchNote's iOS, Android and web apps, aiming to build a stunning brand-new visual style and provide its million users the best experience.

2014-2016

Senior Product Designer Touchnote

2014

Senior Product Designer at Wayra

Wayra UK is a world-leading start-up accelerator programme. Since 2012, it has helped more than 160 British and Irish start-ups take their businesses to the next level, helping them raise over $150m in third-party funding. My role was to define the brand guidelines as well as design the website and iOS app for a startup called Busk.

2010-2014

Freelance Visual and UI/UX designer

I worked for several freelance projects. Especially on building visual interfaces for iOS, Android and Windows apps, mobile games, illustrations, packaging design and layouts for online magazines.
